Pass
Ag 13489
Terry Junior

A black and white photograph of a school hallway. On the right side, there is a row of metal lockers. In the center, there is a long metal bench. On the left, there is a white lattice-like structure, possibly a railing or part of a door. The floor is dark and polished. The title text is overlaid on the upper part of the image.

In Appreciation

To the staff, for many hours spent on the Valhalla when they had better things to do, (like sleep).

To the advertisers, for supporting us and to all the students who have purchased this yearbook and made it what it is.

To Joan Boss, for all her hours of help.

To Mother Morrow, for keeping some sanity in room 81's pet emporium.

To our families, for allowing us to miss many dinners and come home late.

Senior Class

1984-1985

Valhalla Co-Editors: Stacy Towar and Carol Hill

Ms. Morrow said she wanted me to be co-editor of Valhalla partially because she knew if I had a problem I'd come ask. Well, I came back again and again and Carol and I asked and asked so, after hours of questions and total confusion we finally pulled it all together and came up with this years yearbook. It never would have happened without our staff's extra hours, Morrows patience, and Mr. Bulkeley's understanding.

Thanks for the experience I couldn't have received anywhere else!
Good luck class of '85!

Stacy Towar

Club photos mysteriously dissappeared, pages were numbered wrong, and time seemed always on the verge of running out. Chaos frequently erupted from among the pages of this year's yearbook, interrupting plans, and at times making it very hard to smile. This isn't a perfect yearbook, but I did my best, and although sometimes it wasn't good enough, I don't regret anything. I know now that I couldn't possibly learn more in one year.

Learning was crucial to this yearbook, for inexperience met our staff at every turn. Fortunately, Mrs. Morrow was there time and again to control the confusion. Many times, unexpected problems sprang up and time was needed to untangle the knots. I would like to thank Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Forner for understanding when I had to take that time away from their classes.

In completing my post as co-editor, I hope that you, the student body, are pleased with your yearbook, because it is you who crafted its personality. Best of luck class of '85!

Carol Hill
